

Abstract of the Disclosure

Mediation of receiving an application for training is provided between a client organization to which an applicant for training belongs and a training organization which provides a training service so that the applicant for training can easily select an appropriate training course. The similarity levels between plural pieces of training application information about the client organization and one or more pieces of standard training information, and the similarity levels between the standard training information and plural pieces of training reception information about the training organization which provides training services are obtained and stored. The applicant for training is allowed to select any of the plural pieces of standard training information having higher similarity levels to the training application information specified by the applicant for training, and is allowed to select one of the plural pieces of training reception information having higher similarity levels to the selected standard training information.